AFL Sets Funds for T-H Fight

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17 (AP) —A proposal to raise $750,000 to be used in the fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act was placed before the American Federation of Labor convention today.

The committee directing policy for "labor's league for political education" suggested to the 650 delegates to the AFL's 67th convention that they finance an educational program with an assessment of 10 cents a member.

The total membership of the AFL was 7,220,000.

The finance plan for the educational program—dating from next month through 1949—was the result of meetings of the administrative committee of the political league.

The convention delegates were prepared to recess their own sessions today and assume the role of delegates to the labor league. By so doing they will be able to vote a financial contribution to the league without conflicting with provisions of the Taft-Hartley act on political contributions.

The AFL leaders who planned the strategy did so to meet any legal problems arising under the act, despite the pledge of the Democratic convention and President Truman to wipe out the labor law.

Speakers for today's sessions were Cyrus S. Ching, head of the conciliation service, and Paul Hoffman, administrator for the Marshall plan in Europe.

Ching said labor and management are ready for a new era of industrial peace, through free collective bargaining.

Pay Boosted

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today voted $5,000 a year pay increase to President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany. The new salaries of the top officers will be $25,000 and $20,000, respectively.

The convention also restored the 13 vice-presidencies which it wiped out a year ago in a fight over the officer status of John L. Lewis.

The mine leader, who withdrew from the AFL as the result of the controversy, had refused to sign non-communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley act.

Southern Idaho Jaycees Hear Talk by National President at Burley Meeting

BURLEY, Nov. 17—"Service to humanity is the highest goal of life," Paul Bagwell, East Lansing, Mich., national Junior Chamber of Commerce president, told a large gathering of southern Idaho Jaycees at a dinner given in his honor Tuesday night at the National hotel here.

President Bagwell traced the history of the Junior chamber from its beginning in 1915 to the present time with its present scope being almost global. He said the Junior Chamber of Commerce is different from other organizations for three reasons:

1. It inculcates a civic consciousness within its members, making them concerned about the problems of their communities and giving them a desire to do something about them. The Junior chamber gives young men a chance to sit down with civic leaders to learn first-hand the problems of a community. A community is what it is because of the people and kind of leaders it has and not because of geography or physical resources.

2. The Junior chamber is an instructive and active organization because after it finds out what the community needs it studies how to fill the need, gets to work and carries it through to completion. He told how Junior chambers had built polio hospitals, homes for crippled children, youth centers and other similar projects. Of 2,000 chapters each averages about 10 projects a year, many of them more.

3. The Junior chamber is composed of young men more interested in the future than in the past. He pointed out the automotive and airplane industries as examples of dreams of young men carried

Top Mediator Enters Eastern Dock Dispute

By The Associated Press

The government sent one of its mediators to New York today to try to end the crippling east coast dock strike. There appeared, at the same time, to be some hope of early settlement of the 11-week old west coast shipping walkout.

William N. Margolis, assistant to Director Cyrus S. Ching of the federal mediation service, went to New York for conferences with union and management leaders.

Margolis' immediate objective was understood to be to get both sides together seeking a strike-ending solution. There have been no union-management peace talks since the walkout began more than a week ago.

Effects of the shipping tieup in ports from Maine to Virginia were being felt in many segments of industry and business. Estimates of losses ran into many millions of dollars since the AFL International Longshoremen's association walked out eight days ago in a dispute over wages. Thousands of railroad, tugboat and trucking workers have been made idle.

Halifax Port Reopened

The port of Halifax was reopened and the 2,000 longshoremen will handle all goods not consigned to United States ports. Earlier the Halifax Longshoremen's association said it would seal off Halifax from any more ships diverted because of the strike.

In San Francisco, negotiators in the Pacific coast shipping tieup reported "progress is being made." The Waterfront Employers association and the CIO Longshoremen's union reached a tentative agreement on the issue of hiring halls. The hiring halls will stay under union control.

Other Developments

There were other labor developments:

The AFL Screen Extras guild in Hollywood said its members voted 2,512 to 67 to reject an employer proposal for continuing the mob scene extra's pay bracket of $9.45 a day. The guild said it will ask the studios to make a new offer.

For the third day a strike of 150 bus drivers and mechanics of the Edwards lakes-to-seas system halted operations over 1,500 miles of route in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Washington, D. C.

Auto Industry Is Warned to 'Clean House'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—The congressional committee probing auto sales profits today gave the motor industry the choice of "cleaning its own house" or facing possible federal controls.

At the same time, the committee turned over to the justice department and the internal revenue bureau the official record of two days of hearings marked by testimony about "tips" to salesmen for quick car deliveries.

Chairman Macy, R., N. Y., head of the special house group which ended its hearings yesterday, said disclosures so far cover "only a few of the methods" some dealers have used "to obtain exorbitant profits."

Macy indicated to newsmen that before the committee decides whether to resume its inquiry on a nationwide basis—it has been confined to Washington to date—members will wait to see what the auto industry intends to do.

Macy said it will be up to the justice department to determine whether there have been any law violations in selling cars with side money agreements or in requiring purchasers to take unwanted accessories.

Deadline for ACA Ballots Set Saturday

Ballots for electing community committeemen to administer the 1949 agricultural conservation program must be mailed in time to reach the county ACA office by Saturday, Ben Jansen, chairman of the county ACA committee, reminded voters Tuesday. Ballots postmarked later than Nov. 20 will not be counted.

Jansen said every eligible voter has been mailed a ballot listing the names of candidates to the community committee, and candidates for a delegate to attend a convention to help select the county committee. Voters also have the privilege of writing in a name if they prefer that someone else be elected.

Duties of committeemen include the handing of funds appropriated by congress so that they will secure the maximum amount of conservation per dollar spent, price support and loan program, the sugar program and various others affecting agriculture in Idaho.

Voting for the best qualified men in the community to run the farm program at community and county levels next year is a responsibility of every eligible voter, Jansen pointed out.

Farmers who have participated in the agricultural conservation program, the sugar program, price support or loan program, or any other phase of the farm program currently administered by county and community committees, are eligible to vote. Since Idaho is a community property state, the wife of an eligible voter may also vote, Jansen said.

BULLITT VISITS CHIANG

NANKING, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—William Bullitt, representing a congressional investigation committee, was scheduled to see Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek tonight following a round of interviews with a few other cabinet ministers and officials in his search for information on the China situation.

U.N. Chiefs Appeal Anew For Crisis End as West Declares Soviet to Blame

PARIS, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Top United Nations leaders appealed again today to Russia and the western powers to settle the Berlin crisis with "the least possible delay."

Their new appeal came in a statement issued only a few hours after the big three western nations had blamed Russia for the continuing Berlin dispute and had rejected flatly all suggestions for direct negotiations with the Soviet union until the blockade of the German capital is lifted.

The United States, in its note, said that direct negotiations under duress of the blockade would "endanger the peace of the world" by compromising the U.N. charter principle that force "shall not be used for attainment of national objectives."

But U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie and general assembly President Herbert V. Evatt were not dismayed by American, British and French negative replies to their letter suggesting "immediate" four-power conversations to solve the Berlin crisis.

Believing that their letter had started a "chain of events" which might soon lead to at least a truce in the cold war, they issued a prompt statement in which they noted "with satisfaction" that all the great powers in their replies "indicate in one form or another their desire to reach a settlement of the Berlin question."

"The president of the general assembly and the secretary-general hope," their statement said, "that this common desire will find expression with the least possible delay in further attempts to find a solution acceptable to all parties."

Indicating that, as had been expected, the next attack upon the problem would be made through a new compromise proposal in the U. N. security council, which still has the question on its agenda, Lie and Evatt again urged in their statement that the four powers give "full and active support" to the efforts of security council President Juan Bramuglia, Argentina, to mediate the dispute.

In their notes of rejection, western powers took the concrete stand that the Berlin dispute will remain in the hands of the council until Russia lifts the blockade.

Jurors Pondering Decision in Extortion Trial of Reinoehl

The case of Orville Reinoehl, charged with attempted extortion, went to a jury of seven men and five women at 11:48 a.m. Wednesday after Prosecuting Attorney Everett M. Sweeley and Defense Attorney W. L. Dunn completed their arguments and District Judge Hugh A. Baker gave the court's instructions to the jury.

Among Judge Baker's instructions was one calling for a unanimous verdict. Testimony was completed in a fast-moving session Tuesday, with the defense taking only two hours. Reinoehl was heard for the first time in two weeks of preliminary and district court proceedings in the past two months.

The Tuesday and Wednesday sessions have been held before a courtroom packed with spectators, many of whom were high school students studying court procedure at first hand. Students left at regular intervals and were replaced by others.

In his argument to the jury, Sweeley called attention to the presence of the students, and the effect the jury's decision would have on them. Sweeley opened his argument by saying in all probability it would be his last appearance before a jury on a felony case. He retires from office next January after 16 years of service.

Difficult Case

Sweeley termed the case a difficult one to decide. He declared the payment of $1,000 to Reinoehl by O. A. Rambo was an inescapable fact, and listed as being in dispute only who initiated the chain of events which led to Reinoehl's arrest and the question of a threat being made.

He argued that Rambo's actions had been made openly with others while those of Reinoehl were in secret and alone. He cited the delay in giving Reinoehl's car purchase negotiations as being parallel with the delay in the payment by Rambo.

Dunn argued Rambo initiated the series of events and that Rambo had no fear of losing his $1,000. He exhorted the jury to remain on a higher plane than public officers who can become narrow, prejudiced and zealous for public favor.

Cites Questions

Questions he gave the jury were whether Rambo or Reinoehl was the interested party with the least to lose. Dunn questioned Rambo's motives and implied the case may have been started by him as one way to handle slot machine

Truman Gets Chiang Appeal for Statement

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has appealed directly to President Truman for an American policy statement to bolster the morale of Chinese anti-communist forces, it was learned today.

Undersecretary of State Lovett told a news conference Mr. Truman had received a letter directly from Chiang. Lovett did not say what the message was about.

It was learned later it contained the appeal for encouragement to the hard-pressed armies and people of nationalist China in their critical battle with the communists. This appeal parallels a similar request which Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo presented to Lovett last Thursday. Koo disclosed the purpose of his visit last night.

* * * *

The ambassador said China, as an American expression of policy, solidarity and support, formosals here speculated the Chinese government appeals might be answered with a White House statement after Mr. Truman reviews the Chinese and other international situations with Secretary of State Marshall here next Monday.

Lovett was asked at his new conference about Koo's disclosure. He replied that he could not add anything to what President Truman told newsmen yesterday to the effect that the American government has been in communication with Chiang.

Questioned further about this communication, Lovett said it took the form of a letter from the Chinese head of state to the American head of state. He said he did not know whether the letter had cleared through the state department but he thought it went directly to the president.

On other foreign policy matters, Lovett said:

He expects Secretary of State Marshall to arrive here from Paris Monday morning for foreign policy talks later that day with President Truman.

There have been no new developments recently in plans for a north Atlantic alliance linking the United States and western Europe, and there has been no change in the east-west deadlock over Japanese peace treaty procedure.

Scribe Clears Mixed China Crisis Picture

(Editor's note: Chinese nationalist and communist sources have sent out conflicting reports regarding the military situation in and around Suchow, the key rail town 200 miles northwest of Nanking which is the present focal point of fighting in the Chinese civil war. The following dispatch—first to be filed by an American correspondent from Suchow since the fighting in that area began—gives an eye-witness description of the situation there.)

By ARTHUR GOUL

SUCHOW, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — This north Kiangsu defense bastion of the Chinese nationalist government is as quiet today as if it were hundreds of miles from a battle zone.

A casual visitor dropped here would have no inkling that nearly 1,000,000 men—nationalist and communist troops—are locked in desperate see-saw battles east and south of this city that may determine the fate of Nanking, capital of nationalist China.

There is no smoke of battle closer than 20 miles from Suchow. The city and the people in it show no signs of hysteria. Operations at the city's two airfields, one north of the city and the other south, were continuing as normal as those at

Maine's Spuds No 'Bother' for Idaho Granger

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 17 (AP) — The State Grange master of Idaho, who has been eating Maine potatoes for a week, admitted today they haven't given him indigestion.

Master George Hershey — who comes from one of the leading spud-growing states—laughingly denied "reports" he had brought enough potatoes with him to last the entire 10 days of the National Grange convention. Maine is the nation's leading potato producing state.

"Sure, I've been eating Maine potatoes here," said Hershey. "I've been eating them baked, boiled and fried."

And he likes them, he said, but he added quickly that Idaho's long famed variety has no peer when it comes to baking.

Hershey, Boise, is a qualified Potato taster. He has grown them for 30 years and was Idaho commissioner of agriculture for two years.

Local Sewage Problems Are Forum's Topic

Sewage disposal was discussed on the Magic Valley radio forum at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday over station KLIX with Mayor H. G. Lauterbach, R. C. Biladeau, Boise, state public health department sanitary engineer, and Mrs. Mary Ann Knight, South Central Idaho Health unit, as speakers.

Mayor Lauterbach described past days of sewage disposal in Twin Falls. Convenience and lack of expense resulted in all sewage being dumped in Rock creek.

"Your present city officials have become interested in sewage disposal for two reasons," he said. "First, the congress of the United States is considering legislation to prohibit stream pollution. Secondly, the present practice of dumping raw sewage into Rock creek in increasing volume is becoming dangerous to the health of the community and is a potentially offensive odor to which people living along Rock creek are objecting."

He pointed out that if congress passes such a bill the city would have to provide a sewage disposal plant. This would have to be financed by the issuance of revenue bonds, he said, and in order to do this legislation must be passed in the state legislature to empower the cities.

According to Biladeau, "the greatest need for stream pollution abatement is public education."

Straus Unveils Reclamation Program for West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — The interior department presented today a "hypothetical" seven-year, $4,000,000,000 reclamation program for the 17 western states. Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus said the program, if adopted, would:

1. More than double the amount of irrigated reclamed land by 1954.

2. Tripple the electric power output from reclamation projects.

3. Add 100,000 to the farm population of the west.

But the program is "admittedly hypothetical," Straus said in a formal report—the first to be made on the program—to Secretary of the Interior Krug.

Furthermore, in its first two years it is running $116,200,000 behind schedule.

The 250-project program was prepared at the request of the house committee on public lands. It covers the fiscal years 1948 to 1954, inclusive. Appropriations for the first two of these years already have been made.

For the fiscal year 1948, ending last June 30, the program called for an investment of $204,200,000. The actual appropriation by congress for the bureau's resource development program was $149,136,129.

For the current fiscal year the program would have required $312,700,000. It got $251,541,139.

And for next year the program demands $535,400,000. There are unofficial reports the bureau is asking the budget bureau for about $500,000,000.

The proposed program's cost rises annually to $781,900,000 for 1953. In 1954, final year of the program, it subsides to $720,200,000.

The report did not go into detail as to the specific projects contemplated.

Straus said the projects, if built as proposed, would:

1. Irrigate 2,036,000 more acres of arid land in addition to the 2,448,-000 already fully irrigated, thus creating 24,000 new farms with up to 100,000 inhabitants.

2. Provide additional water for partial irrigation of 3,607,000 acres on 68,000 farms, in addition to the 2,255,000 acres now given such service on 41,350 farms.

3. Increase crop values by $506,-000,000 a-year, or about $3,000,000,-000,000 in seven years.

4. Add 4,324,450 kilowatts of additional power capacity to the 2,223,-427 kilowatts now installed, thus increasing generation from 13,000,000,-

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Defense Secretary James Forrestal, who is ready to resign from the cabinet, will be President Truman's luncheon guest tomorrow.

White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, told reporters today that Forrestal will fly here from Washington tomorrow and probably return the same day.

Order Placed For Four New Traffic Lights

The latest in traffic lights have been ordered for four intersections here, it was announced Wednesday by Public Safety Commissioner I. J. Nitschke following a conference between himself, General Electric company representatives, Mayor H. G. Lauterbach, Finance Commissioner H. R. Grant, City Engineer John S. Diffendarfer and Don Smock, lighting engineer.

Present traffic lights will be replaced at the intersections of Main avenue with Shoshone street and the Second streets, and at the intersection of Shoshone street with Truck lane. The cost is expected to be between $12,000 and $13,000, depending upon labor expenses. The city council earlier had budgeted $15,000 for the project.

At each intersection there will be a traffic light on all four corners, instead of the present one light per intersection. A new feature will be pedestrian walk-wait lights. Less design of the vehicle traffic control lights prevents pedestrians from seeing them, Nitschke said, and forces pedestrians to watch the pedestrian lights.

Diffendarfer and Smock will supervise the project and General Electric engineers will be in charge of installation. Work has begun on the poles from which the light will hang. Delivery is expected in about six weeks. All wiring will be underground. Nitschke said this is the first step in the modernization of the city's traffic control devices.

Magic Valley War Fatalities Brought Home

The bodies of five Magic Valley servicemen who were killed in Europe during World war II arrived in New York Tuesday aboard the army transport Carroll Victory.

The men originally were buried in temporary military cemeteries in France, Belgium and Holland and are being returned to the United States for final burial.

Magic Valley men aboard the ship were Pfc. Rex. M. Bowers, army, dead of state, he said he did not know whether the letter had cleared through the state department but he thought it went directly to the president.

On other foreign policy matters, Lovett said:

He expects Secretary of State Marshall to arrive here from Paris Monday morning for foreign policy talks later that day with President Truman.

1948 Beet Prices About $2 Per Ton Under '47 Receipt

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17 (AP)—Sugar beet growers in Utah and Idaho will receive approximately $2 a ton less for their 1948 crop than they did last year.

The Amalgamated Sugar company at Ogden this week rent letters to growers in its territory informing them they could expect to receive from $12.25 to $12.50 per ton for beets harvested this year. The amount includes government benefit payments, Utah-Idaho Sugar company president Fred J. Taylor said.

Utah-Idaho Sugar company prices are to be posted Friday. The telegram said today, however, that the firm will pay approximately the same as Amalgamated.

President H. A. Bennion of Amalgamated, in the letter to growers, said price reduction has been necessitated by increased estimates of domestic sugar production by the department of agriculture. Had the estimates been correct, he said, payments would be $14.25 to $14.50 per ton. The department's estimate was 600,000 tons too high, he said, causing a lowering of price and in turn forcing companies to pay less for the beets.

Stork Beaten

In a race to the hospital the police department nosed out the stork early Wednesday morning.

The race started when James Grallot, 453 Fifth avenue west, rams to the police station at 2:15 a.m. for help in locating a doctor. The race ended with no time to spare.

The officers' first attempt to locate a doctor was as unsuccessful as Grallot's previous attempts. A second attempt by police was successful.

Supporters of College Feted Here Tuesday

College of Idaho contributors in Twin Falls were guests of the College of Idaho at a dinner Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church.

Current progress problems and plans of the college were discussed by representatives from the school. Appreciation was expressed by college officials for the support of Twin Falls residents. A musical program was presented by four College of Idaho students.

Tells Importance

Prof. David Geiger, acting head of the department of religion, discussed the importance of the college of churches of the state and told of student activities and courses in Christian education available at Idaho's only endowed college serving all denominations equally.

Financial trends among privately supported educational institutions was discussed by Thurlow Bryant, business manager of the college. He told of the urgent need for annual gift support in meeting operating expenses and a need for capital gifts to the permanent endowment fund.

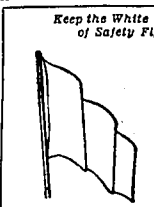

Outlines Plans

Acting President Williams told of the college's plans for the future, indicating the increased enrollment in the upper division classes and the need for increasing the present enrollment limit as soon as facilities can be made available.

Erwin Schwiebert presided at the dinner, showed color slides of campus activities and answered questions about the school.

The Rev. Donald Blackstone spoke briefly on the importance of the school as a Christian educational institution and commended it as being worthy of the support of Idaho men and women.

Students who presented the program are Glenna Speer, Parma, violinist; Elmer Thomas, Nampa, tenor soloist, and Thelma Reynolds, Twin Falls. Esther Skinner, Caldwell, was accompanist.

ment stems from the importance of surface water for domestic supply and irrigation use. The people of Twin Falls should be well aware of this since their supply comes from surface water. Any discussion of pure water necessarily implies at least a question as to the collection, treatment and disposition of municipal and industrial sewage.

"The abatement of water pollution must necessarily begin at home, therefore, Twin Falls should seriously be considering the possibility of treating its sewage."

Biladeau concurred with the mayor on the necessity of having power to issue revenue bonds for the construction of the plant required.

Mrs. Knight pointed out that the public health nursing program in a community is doing a vital job by trying to control communicable diseases.

"The overcrowded conditions in the schools, the housing situation, the lack of proper sanitary facilities in some areas, are all contributing factors in disease occurrence," she said. "Also, according to our best information, there is some relationship between sewage and the incidence of poliomyelitis. However, studies are not yet completed," she added.

"There have been several cases which have been traced, and others have not, but we admit that the incidence of disease is directly proportionate with the sanitary facilities of the community," she said.

Mrs. L. S. Shurtleff represented the League of Women Voters, which sponsors the program, and Juneau Shinn acted as moderator and introduced the speakers.

34 Magic Valley High Schools to Attend Workshop

Thirty-four high schools in Magic Valley have been invited to send delegates to the second annual student council workshop to be held here in Twin Falls. Approximately 200 to 300 students are expected.

Principal speakers for the event will be Dr. Carl W. Mellinkoff, president of Idaho State college; Dr. Raymond H. Snyder, president of SUCE, and a representative from University of Idaho.

The afternoon session will be held in the Twin Falls high school auditorium from 2 until 5 p.m. and an evening session will be held at the Legion hall from 7 until 9 p.m. Huddle Team other parts of the state will be present.

through to completion against all kinds of opposition. The constitutional convention was made up of delegations of young men who combined idealism and enthusiasm of youth with the wisdom and experience of age to build a solid foundation of the country.

In closing, President Bagwell urged young men to keep sacred the privilege of freedom of worship which he said was the backbone of the American way of life and to preserve our democratic form of government.

Some 175 Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes attended the dinner with Rudy Rankin, Burley, as toastmaster.

Sherman Anderson, president of the Burley Jaycees, gave the address of welcome and State President Spencer Barrett, Boise, expressed appreciation to members, many of whom traveled more than 300 miles to attend the dinner. Nine of the Idaho chapters were represented.

Other leaders introduced were Wilson Chandler, Idaho Falls, national director; Charles L'Herrison, Jerome, district vice president; Wayne Tucker, Pocatello, district vice president; Herman Richards, Preston, state treasurer; Jack Packard, Idaho Falls, past state president, and Charles Sieber, Twin Falls, past president.

Delegations were present from Rexburg, Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, Pocatello, Preston, Burley, Jerome, Twin Falls and Buhl. Only Lava Hot Springs and Malad were not represented of the 11 units in southern Idaho.

Entertainment was provided by an orchestra and the Burley Elks quartet. Burley Jay-C-Ettes were in charge of decorations.

Lunghwa international airport in Shanghai.

But along a front extending from a point 25 miles east of Suchow at Sunken to Sinanchen, 30 miles east of Suchow, one of the biggest battles of the China war is being fought.

Artillery Duels

And within 20 miles south of Suchow, the big guns of both sides are roaring in artillery duels, towns are afire, nationalist tanks and armored cars are lobbing shells into communist-held villages in a steady rain, and nationalist air forces bombers are swooping in low over red artillery positions and dropping demolition bombs.

Flying into Suchow, one can see how the fighting already has slashed the government's lifeline railroad from Nanking at vital spots.

Rails in Ruins

Long areas of the iron river are in ruins. Long strings of loaded railway cars lie overturned, little more than pieces of twisted wreckage. Locomotives lie spilled on their side.

The government is determined not to lose Suchow. I flew into Suchow with a planeload of money from the central bank of China. It consisted of 14 huge cases of gold yuan to bolster the city's economy.

43 Counties Send Official Vote Tally

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—Only one county, Bonneville, has failed to send in its official vote canvass of the Nov. 2 general election, Elizabeth Williams, assistant secretary of state, reported today.

She said that so far the vote tallies have not changed materially from the unofficial vote tabulations made the night of election and on Nov. 3.

Miss Williams said, however, that the secretary of state's office had caught a number of "minor" errors in the various county returns. These counties have either been called or the returns sent back for rechecking.

"The errors won't make enough difference in the totals to change the picture much," Miss Williams said.

New Produce Units Built in Burley Region

BURLEY, Nov. 17— With the near completion of the new Bob Pense Produce warehouse and the building of the Union Seed company warehouse here, two new produce handling units are being added to the fast-growing list of new businesses for this community.

The Bob Pense building will be the largest trackage warehouse in Burley, and will be completed before the end of the month. It is built at the site of the old Jerome Cooperative creamery west of Burley. One of the largest jobs during the construction was the cleaning up of the debris left by the fire which destroyed the creamery in the fall of 1943, Pence said. Pense, who formerly operated a produce warehouse at Declo, is one of the veteran buyers of this community.

Work started about a month ago on the Union Seed company building west of Burley on U. S. highway 30. Charles Barnes, manager, reports the building will be used for storage and have equipment to clean clover, alfalfa and grass seeds.

Built of concrete blocks, the 60 by 100 foot building will have a full basement, and part of the building will have two stories.

Union Seed company, with offices in Nampa and Boise, will buy seeds locally as well as ship in seeds from other inter-mountain states. The building will be ready for use late this winter.

Report Shows Farmers Gain Weed Victory

Twin Falls county farmers are gaining a victory over noxious weeds and the cooperation of farmers has contributed the most to the county's weed control program, according to a report prepared by Harry S. Gault, county weed control director, and C. W. Daigh, county agent.

Their report was submitted to E. W. Whitman, Boise, extension agronomist, who is preparing a similar report for the entire state. Canadian thistle and wild morning glory are listed as the most serious problem.

Spreads Faster

The acreages are about the same but the thistle is considered more of a danger because of its faster spread. Most troublesome to control is the perennial cherry.

Although the report concerns 1948 activities principally, it reviews the 38-year history of the battle against noxious weeds started when the county commissioners first set aside funds for that purpose and when salt was the only chemical used as a weed killer.

Early trials of clean cultivation, sodium arsenite, KMG, sodium chlorate, Atlacide, crude and waste oils, and other materials are described. Before newer chemicals were discovered, the peak of spraying came in the 1930's when sodium chlorate was widely used.

Use Declines

Use of it declined because of its inefficiency as a spray and because it is a fire hazard. Replacing it were carbon bisulphide and dry sodium chlorate which are still being used extensively.

With the introduction of hormone sprays five years ago, and selective sprays especially, spraying operations are again reaching a peak. Meanwhile, use of clean cultivation as a weed control measure has dropped sharply.

Progress Made

Over the period of years, considerable progress has been made, especially in keeping even with the weeds, the report states. New infestations constantly appear but farmers are recognizing them and taking control steps.

The acreage of perennial weeds is probably less now than at any time in the past quarter-century, the report declares. Selective spraying has resulted in considerable progress in preventing seeding and new infestations.

Tenant Problem

Little difficulty in weed control is presented by owner-operated farms, but the report describes as a serious problem weed control on farms operated by tenants for absentee owners.

Turning to 1948 weed control activities, the report indicates there are now some 1,000 weed-spraying machines in this county. During the past year, 400 farmers have purchased ready-made spraying equipment and another 200 built their own.

The county budgeted $46,400 from its general fund this year for weed control work and received 8,230 gallons of carbon bisulphide as aid from the state. County weed equipment includes three cars, a pickup, two trucks, four tractors and two sprayers. Another five sprayers are leased from the Bacon Produce company.

Cultivation Started

Cultivation as a weed control measure was begun by the county this year on 50 acres on six farms. Some 150 acres on 16 farms were under the program this year, and three acres were released. The state charge was $1.50 per acre for cultivation.

A total of 3,500 gallons of carbon bisulphide was used by the county on 10 acres of 20 farms, with a rate charge of 13 cents per pound.

Chlorate Used

A much greater amount of chlorate was used by four highway districts in the county. The figures are: Twin Falls highway district, 44,713 pounds; state highway district, 20,685; Buhl highway district, 39,240; and Murtaugh highway district, 2,800, for a total of 107,118 pounds.

The chemical most widely used in the county weed control program was 2,4-D. A total of 19,960 pounds was used on 7,000 acres on 1,100 farms. The county charged 37½ cents a pound plus $9 per hour for applying it.

Material Supplied

In another phase of its fight against noxious weeds, the county supplied or sold to farmers 14,074 gallons of carbon bisulphide, 126,040 pounds of chlorate and 20,040 pounds of 2,4-D. These amounts were not applied by county crews. Acreages treated by farmers were estimated at: Carbon bisulphide, 45; chlorates, 120; 2,4-D, 5,000, and cultivation, none

Commercial spray operators handled a minor amount of spot and grain spraying against Canadian thistle and morning glory with good results, the report concluded.

LESSON FOR REPUBLICANS

The election of Nov. 2, instead of marking the end of the Roosevelt an Democratic party, revealed some grave and unsuspected symptoms in the apparently robust GOP.

It developed that there was a tendency toward hardening of the arteries, and a slight growth of moss upon the back. He was definitely not the pin-up boy of two years ago. A change in living habits and a new outlook seemed indicated.

These symptoms, of course, are not general throughout the party. But they do afflict some GOP congressmen. The voters, sensing this, prescribed for them a long rest and freedom from the heavy duties of government.

This drastic action by the voters was a shock and a surprise to the Republicans. But it probably will be beneficial in the end. For there is almost certain to be some sober stock-taking by party leaders very shortly. And it would be no surprise to see some younger or more modern-minded members given a bigger hand in the making of party policy.

A strong, militant out-of-power party is a necessary safeguard of our democracy. But the opposition must stay in tune with the times. It must be sensitive to the trend of the people's interests and desires. Several Republican leaders in congress, particularly in the house, failed to meet these requirements. They will not be back in Washington, come January.

The election must have shown them, if they did not know it before, that the majority of Americans of both parties want no part of isolationism, or of hair-splitting and penny-pinching where peace and security are involved. It showed them that, at the payoff, the voters have more authority than the lobbyists. It showed them that if one congress does nothing about lowering prices or providing low-cost housing, the people will make a change in the hope of getting a congress that will.

However nostalgic one may feel about them, the old days are gone—the days of great fortunes on one hand and widespread poverty on the other; the days of unregulated business freedom; the days of safety and aloofness behind our two oceans. The world has shrunk and America has grown. And as we grow more populous and urbanized and mechanized, we grow more interdependent. The federal government can no longer sit by and let things take care of themselves.

There are plenty of Republicans who realize this. They believe in conservation and reclamation, in greater economic equality and better health and education. They realize the government's obligation to help secure these things. They are conscious of the inescapable obligations that go with our leading place in world affairs. They can rightly be called progressive and liberal. And yet they are good and true Republicans.

Perhaps now these men will be given greater influence. For the record of the old Republican leadership in congress rose to haunt the GOP presidential candidates in 1940 and 1944 and 1948, and to contribute greatly to their defeat. If that fact has finally been brought home to the party, perhaps we shall now have a minority leadership in congress which speaks in closer harmony with the voice of the people.

THE MOTHER INFLUENCE

We have a hunch that there is one boy in our county jail who is going to turn out all right.

He's the juvenile who escaped Monday evening by sliding down the cables in the courthouse elevator shaft, only to return several hours later because he "did not want to hurt his mother."

That he returned to the sheriff's office voluntarily after thinking it all over is good indication in itself that this young man's experience has taught him a good lesson, that he now appreciates the difference between right and wrong.

It's to his credit that he was so considerate of his mother, and much to her credit also that she had won his respect and confidence.

What was no doubt a heartache for his mother may turn out to be a source of real comfort, now that he has demonstrated the ability and a desire to do the thing that is right.

Sometimes it takes a pretty rough bump for us to realize what life is all about, and it all works out for the better.

JUST BARELY S. R. O.

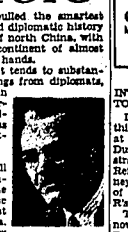

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, appearing before a federal grand jury on a charge of payroll padding, stood on his constitutional rights and refused to testify. Mr. Thomas was lucky to find a place to stand, since the famous grounds of self-incrimination are already crowded with communists and alleged communists who have refused to testify before Mr. Thomas' un-American activities committee for the same reason.

A man who hunts trouble always finds it, says a police chief. Not if it's in the ignition system.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON — Stalin has pulled the smartest squeeze play in modern military and diplomatic history through the communistic conquest of north China, with the prospect that this sprawling continent of almost 500,000,000 people will fall into red hands.

The rush of events in the Orient tends to substantiate official and unofficial warnings from diplomats, missionaries and business men in that area that Moscow has deliberately staged the German and Balkan crises during the last six months as a screen for its events more threatening activities in the far east.

Ray Tucker

PLUNGE—To change a football figure, the quarterback in the kremlin has faked a plunge through the European side of the line, while he directed his real charge against Chiang Kai-shek's toppling China. If prospective developments show this to be his strategy, it will mean that the western powers, including the United States, were caught asleep and off guard.

For the U. S., Britain and France have committed themselves to holding the line thousands of miles away from Stalin's undercover offensive, despite desperate, last-minute efforts at Washington, London, Paris and Key West to shift and strengthen their oriental front.

• • •

LATE—Marshall Plan Administrator Paul Hoffman has been in almost constant conference with Undersecretary of State Lovett, with military experts and his own advisory staff. But he admits wearily that it is "too late" now for any large-scale resistance.

He dare not forward civilian supplies lest they be captured by the advancing communist forces, inasmuch as their lines move forward every hour. Anyway, he has only $275,000,000 for this purpose.

Ordnance experts dare not step up shipments of weapons for the same reason. Moreover, since the amount on hand for military reinforcement of the beleaguered Chinese is only $125,000,000, it would not provide sufficient weapons and ammunition for a month of fighting. Privately, the disheartened officials here and among our anti-red allies admit that it is another episode of "too little and too late."

It may be some time before Stalin's further strategy unrolls. But it is pointed out here that already the communist sweep through northern China constitutes a flanking threat to our positions in Japan and southern Korea. Even more dangerous, however, would be an eventual sweep and propaganda war in India, the Malayan peninsula and turbulent Indonesia.

• • •

DISCOURAGED—The irony of the apparent Chinese collapse lies in the fact that the discredited generalissimo belatedly chose as his military leader in north China the one man whom such an expert as George C. Marshall characterized as "a real soldier." He is gen. Fu Tso-yi, the bald, moon-faced but rugged, jeep-driving ruler of Shansi province.

So discouraged has he become, according to reports, that he may not accept the too long delayed offer of independent authority in massing his men against the invaders. He may simply rally his tough warriors, known as the "Yellow river band babies," to hold the narrow corridors he now occupies in north China.

• • •

GRAFTING—For some time our more skilled students of Chinese affairs have urged that we use our offices to persuade Chiang to relinquish power in favor of General Fu. But Washington did not like to offend the sensibilities of the man who was eulogized during the war by Roosevelt, Churchill and even Stalin as the "rock of China."

Meanwhile, Fu gained local victories, but could not offer extended resistance for lack of arms. Meanwhile, too, the weapons and supplies which we forwarded to the Chungking government were resold to line the pockets of Chiang's lieutenants.

It was the knowledge of this grafting which led President Truman and General Marshall to withhold the billions in aid demanded by capitol hill Republicans during consideration of Marshall plan financing.

• • •

REFORMS—Should China be able to hold out pending a decision here on proposals to swing our strength to this strategic front, Fu may emerge as the new leader of China. Besides being the only successful fighter there, there and here he has initiated the reforms advocated by economic, agricultural and land experts.

He has sponsored land redistributiog, stimulated industries, practiced thrift and industry, and subsidized scholarships to the United States and Europe.

It is not enough, he says, to stop the communists militarily. The populace must be won over by improvement of their daily lot.

• • •

INDIGESTIBLE—Abashed allied diplomats profess to find some consolation in a Soviet conquest of China and other Asiatic lands, although they may be whistling again, as they did after Munich.

It is their belief that Stalin may take over so many different races and nationalities and tribes that they will prove indigestible. They do not believe that one man or his politburo can administer successfully and permanently an empire extending from Berlin to Bombay. In short, they remember the fate which met Napoleon when he invaded Russia.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

THE EYES HAVE IT

Relentlessly the march of the debunkers goes on. Doctors at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary have blown the "better light, better sight" people out of the water with a finding that you can read in poor light, read in bed, read out of doors, or read the comics while lying on the stomach, all without doing any organic harm to the eyes.

Nobody really knows, the Boston ophthalmologists say, what causes cataracts, glaucoma, or near-sightedness. But they are sure of one thing; that functional disturbances are NOT caused by insufficient illumination.

This explains, then, how Abe Lincoln managed to read by firelight without ruining his eyes. It always did seem odd that the human eye could survive so many generations before the discovery of modern lighting.

Before anybody turns out the lights when curling up with a good book, he ought to note that the Massachusetts infirmary people admit that bad lighting will produce fatigue and headaches. All they say is that they can't find any evidence of permanent injury to the eyes.

Nevertheless, the net effect of this little flier in science will, we fear, prove subversive. The next time you command Junior to stop reading the comics while sprawled on the floor ("You will ruin your eyes") the findings of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary will doubtless be flung back in your teeth.—Chicago Sun-Times.

NO BEAUTY PARLOR QUARTETS

It is time to call a halt. The female invasion of domains sacred to the American male has been widespread as it has been persistent. It has been insidious or blatant, calculated or brazen as the circumstances have required, but it has been successful.

Now we come to the last straw. A woman (and what's more, an operator of a so-called "charm school") has sued the respected male Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., to require it to admit her to its membership. This woman has the temerity to want to put sopranos or altos in barbershop quartets or else to have established a female auxiliary to this august society.

In her petition the disrupter asks the court to direct the society "to associate women in (its) activities and thereby add dignity, charm and good singing, necessary in the perpetuation and development of quartet singing."

We hope the learned judge throws this piece of impudence out of court and accompanies the process with a lecture to the pretentious plaintiff on the inherent, unequivocal rights of males in singing that originated in that one-time bastion of masculinity, the barbershop. We hope, furthermore, that he adds a few succinct remarks about her temerity in asserting that dignity, charm and good singing are absent from male barbershop songs and that the addition of a hooting contralto and a shrilling soprano would overcome this nonexistent shortcoming.—Columbus Dispatch.

CONFUSION PLUS

INTEROFFICE MEMO:
TO: Pot Shots

During the the Reinoehl trial, things became somewhat confused at times. Both Fr. Sweeley and Bill Dunn had their difficulties keeping straight on the three R's, Rambo, Reinoehl and Rountree. Both attorneys slipped up on the opening day of the trial, mentioned one of the R's while referring to another.

Then there was the case of the now-famous $1,000. The dough, with Rambo's list of the serial numbers, was entered as an exhibit and handed to the jury for closer inspection. At the close of the court session, Mrs. Edna Bailey, Kimberly, had the $1,000. After the jury departed, she handed the wad to a court officer who passed it on to someone else, who, etc., before the dough got in the hands of someone who was willing to take responsibility of keeping the evidence safe overnight.

The judge ordered precautions to protect the evidence.

ALMOST LOST OUT

Dear Pot Shots:

I almost lost out on one of your shots because of a recent trip to Portland. I find in going back to Nov. 8 that Mr. Louis Evans is wondering if I am going to forbid members of the Methodist church to sing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

No, I do not forbid members of the church I serve to sing, pray or do anything. I tell them what I think is right and then leave it to them to decide. That, I believe, is good democracy and good Christianity. If Mr. Evans will study the hymn he names, he will discover that it does not glorify the kind of warfare that guns in a city park do.

I will gladly prove to Mr. Evans that I do not forbid singing this great Christian hymn by using it on the Sunday he favors us with his presence at morning worship.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

So you voted against Taft-Hartley because the union racketeers told you it was a slave-labor law.

Let me tell you about the real slavery under unionism, which the Taft-Hartley law tried to abolish. Then you will see why Dan Tobin, the king of teamsters, and the whole roster of pot-bellied old tyrants, living amid really regal luxury and toadyism in their royal courts, were dead against Taft-Hartley.

Westbrook Pegler

Never mind about Truman for the moment and his reasons for throwing in with such brutal mantraders. Let us not complicate the discussion. Let us consider the facts of labor-slavery under unionism.

Kings used to trade principalities and include the people along with the cattle and the wild life on the land. The people were faceless objects without personality or volition. Under unionism in the United States, that is all you are. A mule, a pig. You!

• • •

I have told you and told you that the hodcarriers' union is one of the dirtiest rackets in our underworld history.

In Chicago, the king of the hodcarriers was Mike Carrozzo, a great friend and intimate cohort of Mayor Ed Kelly, that fine, religious model of respectable home-life and pillar of the Roosevelt new deal.

Carrozzo got rich under Kelly's patronage and died owing the federal treasury $250,000 in more taxes on his income. He got this income from a personal grand duchy in the kingdom of Greasy Joe Moreschi, the president of the national union.

Mike always was a criminal but he was lower than respectable, hornhanded burglars and the like. He was the herdsman of the prostitutes in the dives run by Jim Colosimo, the genius who introduced chainstore methods to the industry.

Here now is a quick digest of a treaty between Greasy Joe and Mike Carrozzo.

By a process too obscure to relate here, Carrozzo had acquired from the AFL a charter for the International Union of Pavers, Pavingmermen, Flag-layers, and so forth. In short, a union of pavement workers. He was president.

Carrozzo had a monopoly on a paving compound which Ed Kelly's city administration favored. They also excluded ready-mixed concrete from Chicago as a paving material.

On Feb. 9, 1937, Carrozzo made a treaty with Moreschi, transferring his entire union, together with its jurisdiction over all its members, to Greasy Joe. Nothing was said about a transfer of the treasury. Mike kept the money which belonged to the serfs to square with the charter.

Carrozzo's faceless men had nothing to say about it. They didn't even know. Their little king just made a deal with the bigger king and they were conveyed from one sovereignty to another, like pigs on the land.

All this had the official approval of William Green, president, and the entire executive council of the AFL. Green is one of those who put on the lips of President Truman that howl that Taft-Hartley was a slave-labor law. Truman knew the score, though. He knew.

• • •

At that time, Moreschi's union had not held a national convention nor an election of officers since September, 1911. That was 26 years. Moreschi had not been elected president. He and the other racketeers had just elected themselves. Carrozzo's union of paving workers had never held a convention nor an election. Never.

Mike just rounded up so many faceless men on the streets of Chicago. Ignorant hunkies hoveling in the dirty slums. And the AFL granted Mike a charter tantamount to a title of ownership of all men so employed.

After the trade, Carrozzo ceased to be king, but became a duke of the same zone that he ruled before. Chicago was no longer an independent kingdom of the pavers' union but a duchy of the hodcarriers' union. He ruled until he died a rich man with a lavish farm stocked with purebred animals. William Green, president Truman's friend, cohort and adviser on the Taft-Hartley law, signed all the official articles for the AFL.

This kind of thing goes on constantly. The members are not consulted. You are just traded like so much farm stock and then told. You get new union cards which are actually work-permits graciously authorizing you to earn your living during the pleasure of a Mike Carrozzo, a Greasy Joe Moreschi, a Dan Tobin or a John L. Lewis. Yes, you!

• • •

Tobin is the most rapacious and arrogant handtrader of the present day. This swollen old fat-headed cruelty is the more awful in an old man with a senile infatuation with himself. Actually an ignoramus, as his pompous editorials often show, he regards himself as a wise, infallible king.

His powers are far more terrible than any powers of our government short of the legal death penalty. His goons might beat you to death, however, and the supreme court might condone it if the killing were done strictly in the interests of the union. The court has actually condoned beatings in the union's interest.

In 1917, the hodcarriers' gang took over the International Union of Compressed Air and Foundation Workers. No debate. No vote.

Also in 1919 the AFL "awarded" thousands of shipyard workers to the hodcarriers. In 1929, they absorbed the Tunnel and Subway Constructors' International union.

In 1920, G. D. Dioguardi, a sporting fellow with a racing stable, in return for certain considerations, ceded to Moreschi his outfit of faceless men—pigs, for all their volition in the matter—under a treaty merging the Bricklayers' Helpers' United Building and Common Laborers' union with Moreschi's racket.

These racketeers are the people who sent out the expensive pamphlets and hired the radio time to tell you that Taft-Hartley meant slavery.

Snow falls at the rate of two to three miles an hour, or about one-seventh the rate at which rain falls.

BOB HOPE

Science is getting ahead of itself. Without waiting for space ships to be invented they've already started making plans for a stop-off station on the route to the moon which would be 24,000 miles from the earth.

Bob Hope

I understand the station will be a sort of supply depot and rest area. It will have food, warm clothing and a rehearsal room for crooners.

When they asked for volunteers to live at the space station, they had a real surprise. The first one in line was George Gallup.

A spot 24,000 miles from the earth might be a very exciting place to spend time. Of course, I don't think it'll ever replace Griffith park.

Naturally, if you lived up there, it wouldn't be hard to spot a suspicious character . . . that would be anybody who knocked on your door and said, "I just happened to be in the neighborhood and thought I'd drop in."

A foot of new snow is often equal to only an inch of rain.

Riding Club Sets Plans for Dance

The fall round up dance to be held Dec. 7 at Rada Rondevoo was discussed by members of the Frontier Riding club at a meeting Tuesday night at the Idaho Power auditorium.

Arlon Bastian's orchestra will furnish music for the dance.

The horse show committee gave a report during the business session and plans were made for next year's horse show.

Special entertainment was provided by Joyce Barlowe, who gave three humorous readings and the "Bango Boys" who sang "Civilization."

Tony Young, president of the club, conducted the meeting.

$20,518 Awarded To Idaho Woman

COEUR D'ALENE, Nov. 17 (AP)—Federal Judge Chase A. Clark has awarded $20,518 to Daisy Louise White in her damage suit against the government.

Mrs. White brought suit after her husband died Aug. 11, 1947.

He was electrocuted when he was struck by a 7,600-volt power line that fell into his yard as an employe of the U. S. forest service was taking up slack in a forest service telephone line.

Judge Clark awarded the damages after the government rested its case without calling a witness or making a statement.

2 Cars Damaged In Curry Collision

An attempt by an automobile driver to pass another machine which had begun a left turn resulted in a collision at 11:50 a. m. Tuesday at Curry on U. S. highway 93, sheriff's officers said.

David H. Remaly, 226 Washington street north, began a left turn when a machine driven by I. W. Reed, 304 Blue Lakes boulevard, attempted to pass, the officers reported.

Remaly told officers he had signaled for the turn. Reed said he saw no signal. Officers said Reed crossed the double center line on the highway in his attempt to pass.

The front bumper of the Remaly machine was damaged as was the rear fender, tire and wheel of the vehicle driven by Reed, officers said.

Pocatello to Take Over Army Field

POCATELLO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Mayor George R. Phillips said the city of Pocatello is taking over the former army airbase located seven miles west of the city.

Phillips said the city council agreed to take over the base to end a controversy lasting for months. The council decision followed an agreement by the government to remove equipment not needed in the operation of an airport.

The city several months ago turned down the government offer of the base because maintenance equipment had been sold and the buildings and water and sewer systems needed repairs.

Contracts Given

BOISE, Nov. 17 (UP)—Two Gooding meat packing companies have been awarded contracts to supply the state tuberculosis hospital at Gooding with more than 2,000 pounds of various types of meat, the state purchasing department reported today.

Kingsbody's Market, Gooding, will supply $1,171 worth of meat and the Ohlenger Packing company, has a contract for $97.50 worth of meat.

Car Group Aids Licensing Drive

BOISE, Nov. 17 (UP)—The Idaho Automobile association today added new pressure to its move to get the state to adopt a more rigid licensing system for Idaho drivers.

Association President R. G. Cole said Idaho's accident record of 164 traffic deaths for the first 10 months of this year was proof enough that "something must be done about the state's driver licensing laws."

Other organizations in the state have also been working to get the legislature to pass a law that would require a physical examination, eye and color tests and an actual road test before a driver's license is granted.

Inauguration Jan. 20 to Be "Most Fancy"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — President Truman's inauguration Jan. 20 will be the fanciest in the nation's history, if the man in charge of it has his way.

Melvin D. Hildreth, chairman of the inauguration committee, set that as his goal at a meeting with District of Columbia officials less than 24 hours after his appointment. He sketched this tentative outline:

"Inaugural Week"

The week in which the big day comes would be designated inaugural week, and all government workers would get a Thursday-through-Sunday holiday.

On Friday, the day after the inauguration, a mammoth ball is planned, to be held at the huge national guard armory. A concert by the national symphony orchestra is scheduled for the same evening.

The program for the week as a whole would include everything from special religious services to a fireworks display at the Washington monument.

Parade, Air Show

And for inauguration day itself, a great parade and air show, with special reviewing stands set up across the street from the White House.

The overall cost—about $100,000—should be covered adequately by ticket, program and souvenir sales, Hildreth said.

The inaugural chairman is even planning on sunshine.

"I've checked the weather on Jan. 20 for the past 15 years," he said hopefully, "and there was only one rainy day."

Reports Given on Buhl Meeting of Boy Scout Heads

BUHL, Nov. 17 — The district meeting of Boy Scout leaders and roundtables for Scout leaders and Cub leaders were held recently at the Castleford Methodist church with Tom Novacek, district chairman, in charge of the district meeting.

Plans were completed for the annual roundup rally which will be held Nov. 23 at the Legion hall here. The rally will begin with a potluck dinner at 7 p. m.

A nominating committee composed of Earl Heidel, Castleford, and John Ruckmen and Ferrell Neilson, both Buhl, will submit names for district officers at the next meeting Dec. 8.

At the Scout leaders roundtable, under the direction of Ferrell Neilson, the roundtable rally was discussed and leaders received the results of the school survey with names of boys to recruit.

The theme for the month, "Training for Trouble," also was discused.

An open forum on operating dens and pack meetings was held at the Cub leaders roundtable with Don Higbee in charge.

Inland Empire's Soil Conference Debates Erosion

LEWISTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Panel discussions of soil erosion problems wound up the inland empire soil conservation conference.

Farmers attending the conference from the tri-state area asked the questions and 11 agronomists and range officials provided the answers.

One question asked by the farmers was how much rainfall is required for use of nitrogen fertilizers.

The officials said 15 inches of rainfall annually is necessary for successful use of nitrogen fertilizers and that a program of their use would require 10 years to restore the nitrogen property in depleted soils.

Discussion also centered on comparative fertilizer uses, forest range land contributions to conservation, range management by federal agencies and weed control.

The conference, sponsored by the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce, attracted 125 farmers and businessmen.

Officer for Guard Back From Tour

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—First Lieut. Kenneth W. Rayburn, acting assistant general, has returned here following a 30-day tour of duty with the national guard bureau in Washington, D. C.

While in Washington, Rayburn assisted in reviewing and processing all Idaho national guard matters. He was one of several officers selected nationally to serve with the bureau during an instructional period.

Idaho guard headquarters said Rayburn has been ordered to active duty in the adjutant general's department of the army and is awaiting travel orders.

Coast-to-Coast Television Is Seen by 1952

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (UP)—A coast-to-coast television network may be a reality by 1952.

At least that's the hope of federal communications commission chairman, Wayne Coy.

In an address before a Chicago Rotary club "television day" audience, Coy said he looks for the 45 stations now on the air to mushroom to 400 in the next two years.

Describing television as a "spectacular eruption," Coy said the scheduled Jan. 13 linking of the east coast and midwest television networks would be a "mighty milestone" toward the nationwide goal.

He said the new industry would have a great impact on present entertainment and advertising methods. Not only newspapers and radio, but especially the movie industry will be pressed to compete for the public favor, he declared.

Coy said television would have an important role in case of an atomic war. In such an event, he said, it may well prove invaluable in civilian and military defense measures.

Egg Prices Near Peak for Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Egg prices are teetering near the year's peak, supported by scant storage stocks and Thanksgiving demand.

The large grade A eggs are retailing today in a leading chain company's store at 88 cents a dozen, compared with the year's high of 92 cents early this month. The 1947 peak retail price was 94 cents, prevailing the latter part of September.

The four principal coast markets —Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles—report dwindling storage stocks of good eggs.

Abandoned Baby Held for Mother

POCATELLO, Nov. 17 (UP)—Pocatello police today hoped that the mother who abandoned her 11-month-old son in an automobile here Monday would show up to claim the child.

More than a dozen offers to adopt "Larry Lee" have already come to the police headquarters.

But before the police turn the baby over to other authorities, they are continuing their search for the mother whom they believe still to be in the Pocatello area.

In a note pinned to the child's clothes, the mother said the father had died just before the birth of the boy and that she didn't have the financial means for the baby's care. She hoped someone would give it a good home.

Cassia Area Hunt Yields 1,351 Deer

Hunters holding permits in the special deer hunt in the Cassia division of the Minidoka national forest bagged 1,351 deer during the five day hunt, according to figures released Wednesday by A. E. Briggs, forest supervisor. Checking station records showed that 88 per cent of hunters were successful in taking their deer. Sixty per cent of the 1,351 deer were taken during the first day and 94 per cent during the first three days, Briggs said.

The report said 1,543 hunters took to the forest for deer. A total of 1,600 permits were issued for the special hunt. Fifty-seven permit holders did not check in or out of the six checking stations, Briggs said.

60 Per Cent Bucks

Sixty per cent of the animals shot in the hunt were bucks. Deer weighed in at the two main checking stations at Rock Creek and Northwater showed the average weight for bucks was 122.71 pounds and the average weight for does was 87.41 pounds.

The heaviest buck weighed 225 pounds and the heaviest doe, 160 pounds.

381 Taken at Albion

In the Albion division special hunt, 361 deer were removed in the five-day season, Briggs said. Of the 450 permits issued, only 428 hunters checked in at various stations. Eighty-four per cent of the nimrods were successful in getting deer.

Seventy per cent of the deer taken were bucks and 83 per cent of the deer were taken during the first two days of the hunt.

153 Pound Average

Deer taken by hunters were weighed at the Elba checking station. Average weight for bucks was 153.7 pounds and 105.37 for does. The heaviest buck taken from the Albion division special hunt was 258 pounds and the heaviest doe was 160 pounds. All deer were weighed with head, legs and hide.

Bucks taken from the Albion hunt averaged 31 pounds more than bucks taken from the Cassia division. Does weighed 18 pounds more in the Albion division than in the Cassia division, Briggs said.

Sparks Fly in Iowa, Gopher Grid Relations

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 17 (AP)—The age-old verbal sparks over Iowa-Minnesota athletic relationships are flaring again.

It all started way back in 1891 when a powerful Gopher football team crushed its southern neighbor 43-4.

The arguments grew with the years. The football rivalry became so intense that in 1935 the respective governors wagered a prize porker—Floyd of Rosedale—on the outcome of the game.

Porker Awarded

Minnesota got it on a 13-6 victory. The governor presented the porker to the university and commissioned a sculptor to create a bronze statue of Floyd.

Floyd, the annual game prize, has spent most of his time in Minneapolis.

Floyd was at home at Iowa City last week when the Gophers came down to repossess him.

They put a 28-21 claim on him.

Protests Conduct

But Minnesota Coach Bernie Bierman apparently was not too happy about the conduct of some of the Iowa fans. He told Iowa Coach Eddie Anderson he would never bring a team here again" because of "punishment from such a riotous crowd."

Johnson County Attorney Jack C. White entered the argument with a letter to the president of the University of Minnesota protesting "the conduct and language" of Bierman.

Insecurity Claimed

In Minneapolis Bierman said there were inaccuracies in White's statement.

White said in his letter he sat in the front row directly behind the Minnesota bench.

When Bierman's son entered the game, White wrote, some fan high in the stands yelled "What are you trying to do Bernie, keep it in the family?"

White said that the Minnesota coach turned to the stands and "in a loud voice, cupping his hands so that his voice would carry, yelled: "'I don't talk to —.'"

No Tie Seen in Big Nine Ballot

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (UP) — There was little chance of a tie vote in the Big Nine's balloting to determine a Rose bowl representative. The decision of the league's faculty representatives will be announced Monday.

The faculty representatives, who cast the ballot picking the team, have been requested to telegraph their top three selections to the western conference headquarters after Saturday's games.

The results will be tabulated Sunday and Monday commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson will announce the nomination.

Savold Claims He Will Fight Louis

HALIFAX, Nov. 17 (AP)—Heavyweight contender Lee Savold said here that if he wins his next fight, against Bruce Woodcock in London, Dec. 6, "I'll be fighting Joe Louis in June." The 30-year-old Savold said he thought he could win both engagements.

Among passengers scheduled to leave Tuesday night on the liner Mauretania, he was accompanied by his manager, Bill Daly, who said: "Lee will beat Woodcock, all right. If, by some chance, he doesn't, we'll go in for the movie business."

Race Winnings For Citation Near Million

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17 (AP)—Citation's second million will be his hardest to sail away. Warren Wright and Ben Jones are among those who feel that amount is completely out of Mr. Racing's reach.

As a matter of fact, Wright, his owner, fears Citation's days of picking up turfdom's top sugar simply by showning up at a given track at an appointed hour are numbered.

Fear Handicappers

"He surely will lose a few races when the handicappers get their hands on him," Wright said.

Jones, general manager of Wright's racing interests with headquarters at nearby Calumet farm, added:

"No horse in our time will win two million. It's fantastic."

But Citation, now flirting with his first million and regarded by one and all a cinch to hit it early in 1949, has a few followers who are confident the Calumet comet has a financial future of unlimited possibilities.

"We want him to set a money record and possibly carry it out of easy reach for other horses," Wright said. "I will be satisfied if he does that."

Legs Are Good

Jones agreed Citation's legs are as good as they were the day he was foaled; that he's a reasonably big horse capable of carrying reasonably heavy imposts, and that he's still a young horse, just ready to turn four years old on the universal birthday of thoroughbreds Jan. 1.

"But $2,000,000 is too much to expect any horse to win," he said.

"They don't last long when the handicappers go to work. He has carried 130 pounds with horses of his age, but 128 is harder to carry in the handicaps."

Armed, just behind second-place money champion Citation, won most of his bankroll when he was five and six years old.

1,500 Pheasants Moved by State To North Idaho

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—Transfer of 1,500 mature pheasants to north Idaho for release next spring was announced Tuesday by the state fish and game department.

The birds are being shifted in an effort to restore a nucleus of the upland game birds hard hit by the spring floods.

Half of the pheasants were taken to pens at the north Idaho bird refuge at Coeur d'Alene. The other half were taken to the bird farm at Lapwai.

All are large birds of the 1948 crop, hatched at the state game bird farm at Jerome. They will be fed in north Idaho this winter and then liberated when the danger of spring damage is believed past.

The 750 birds shipped to the pens at Lapwai and d'Alene will join 2,000 others already being raised at the station there.

Nevada Ace Said OK for Pro Ball

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17 (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the national football league said Tuesday that Stan Heath, passing star for the University of Nevada, will be eligible to play in the NFL next season "if he so chooses."

The commissioner said he received a wire from Coach Joe Sheeketski of Nevada stating that Heath would have "no more eligibility left at Nevada" after next year.

University of Wisconsin records show that Heath enrolled at the Big Nine school in 1946. He played at Wisconsin in 1947 and this season has set a national intercollegiate passing record.

Heath, listed as a junior at Nevada, has been quoted as saying previously that he would not return to school next year but would join a professional team.

Ring Suspension Sought for Conn

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 17 (AP) — Secretary Leon Collins of the Savannah boxing commission said Tuesday night he is seeking to have heavyweight Billy Conn suspended from the ring.

Collins said Conn and a Macon matchmaker, Sol Wineguff, defaulted on a verbal contract to appear in Savannah for a fight Thursday night. He also is seeking Wineguff's suspension, he said.

Conn, the Pittsburgh contender who lost two fights for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, started a comeback in Macon last night by scoring a ninth round technical knockout over Mike O'Dowd of New York.

Vandal Gridders Gird for Huskies

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (UP)—The Idaho Vandals buckled down to work Tuesday as football observers conceded they had a reasonable chance to beat the University of Washington at Seattle Sunday.

Coach Dixie Howell said the team suffered no injuries in last Saturday's victory over Portland university.

CANADIAN TEAMS WINS

SEATTLE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Four British Columbia teams were the only ones to remain undefeated in the annual two-day women's field hockey tournament which ended Sunday.

Michigan State Among Top as Yard Gainers

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Belatedly, it becomes apparent that the Michigan State Spartans, 1948 model, are one of the nation's great offensive football units.

Two weeks ago Coach Biggie Munn's lads were not ranked among the top 20 attacking powers in statistics prepared by the national collegiate athletic bureau.

Last week, they popped up in eighth place, and this week they are fourth in total offense, right on the heels of Nevada, Army and Notre Dame. They are second only to Nevada in scoring, with 298 points.

State's full season average gain per rushing play is 6.10 yards—the nation's best—and its average both for running and passing is 6.53, second only to Nevada's 6.93.

It cannot be said, either, that the Spartans have compiled this dazzling record against push-overs. Three of their first five opponents were contenders for the national title—Michigan (3-12), Notre Dame (7-26) and Penn States (14-14). No other team has faced these three.

Since they came out of that alive, the Spartans have been terrific. Though their last three games against Oregon State, Marquette, and Iowa State they have maintined a tremendous offensive average of 511.3 yards per contest.

All this, however, is not going to be good enough to knock little Nevada out of the national groundgaining title before the season ends.

The Wolfpack is idle this week, but needs only 287 yards in its final against Wichita to surpass the all-time record average of 402.7 yards per game set by Army in 1945.

Ruth's Last Home Run Is Honored

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (AP)—Babe Ruth's last home run—hit at Forbes field—has been memorialized by a plaque.

The plaque, erected Tuesday, bears this inscription:

Babe Ruth (1895-1948) hit the last home run of his career while playing with the Boston Braves versus the Pittsburgh Pirates on Saturday, May 25, 1935, at Forbes field.

The home run, 714th of Ruth's career, cleared the right field stands at this point."

Agreement Set With Indians, Coast Squad

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have signed a working agreement with San Diego of the triple AAA Pacific Coast league, Vice President Hank Greenberg announced Tuesday night.

Just returned from the west coast after negotiating with three clubs—the other two were Hollywood and Sacramento—Greenberg said in New York City:

Most to Offer

"We selected San Diego because of the three clubs, it seems to have the most to offer."

San Diego will have first call on all Cleveland farm hands of AAA ability, Greenberg said. At the end of each season the Indians will have the right to purchase any two players owned by the Padres.

The arrangement gives the Indians a triple A outlet, vacated since the working agreement with Baltimore was terminated.

Need Manager

The Padres have no manager. Not long ago, the Indians said they might offer a job to Steve O'Neill, ousted Detroit Tiger manager, if the right one turns up.

O'Neill himself has said he won't know about any job with the Indians at least until the minor league meeting in Minneapolis next month.

That's where Greenberg said he would talk the situation over with Bill Starr, San Diego club president, finding out who will replace Rip Collins, last year's Padre manager.

First Match Set On Thursday for Valley Gun Clubs

Weekly matches of the Magic Valley Rifle and Pistol association will start this Thursday in two area towns. Twin Falls will shoot at Filer and Buhl will shoot at Burley. The Gooding team draws a bye.

Matches are scheduled to be held on every Thursday night for 10 weeks.

The rifle association was formed recently to coordinate rifle and pistol competition in the area and to help groups in other localities organize rifle clubs.

Ralph Shaffer is captain of the first Twin Falls team with Laura Mortensen captain of the second local squad. Jim Baya heads the pistol team.

Outlaw Basketball Loop Sets Annual Meet on Monday

Annual meeting of the Magic Valley Outlaw Minor basketball league will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Wray's cafe in Twin Falls, Roy Van Buren, announced.

Schedules and plans for the 1948-49 cage season will be set at the meeting.

Van Buren said any team wishing to enter the league should have a representative at the meeting. Last year 18 teams played in the loop.

Dinner will be served during the meeting.

Bears Rest Bowl Hopes on Vote

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 17 (AP)—University of California rests its hopes of playing in the Rose bowl on its final 1948 grid game and a Pacific Coast conference vote to name the New Year's day team.

Oregon's challenge to play for the Rose bowl bid—if both teams wind up their conference schedules undefeated—has been rejected by California authorities "for academic reasons."

"Our academic pace is pretty fast and we just have to have time out from football," said Athletic Director Brutus Hamilton.

The two Rose bowl prospects are heavily favored to finish the season undefeated in conference play Saturday when California meets Stanford and Oregon plays Oregon State. The only loss by either was Oregon's non-conference 14-0 defeat by mighty Michigan.

Oregon Athletic Director Leo A. Harris said he had not given up hope for a playoff.

"Every one interested in intercollegiate football and the Rose bowl would prefer to have the selection of the conference representative in the 1949 Rose bowl game depend on the result of a game between the two schools," he said.

The Northern California and Southern California Football Writers' associations have backed him up by urging a playoff.

Under conference rules, the vote by the 10 conference members is scheduled to begin immediately after the season ends. In case of a 5-5 tie, the nod goes to the team with the longest lapse since its last appearance in the Pasadena classic. California played in 1938; Oregon in 1920.

If Oregon gets the invitation and Northwestern fulfills expectations and represents the Big Nine, the bowl game will be a contest between two elevens beaten by the nation's top ranking team—Michigan.

Major Cage League Sets 1948-49 Plans, Adds New Squad to Loop

JEROME, Nov. 17—Directors of the South Central Idaho Major Basketball league set initial plans for 1948-49 play and accepted an application for a league franchise by the Gooding Elks lodge at their annual meeting here Tuesday night.

Directors adopted a round robin plan of play to begin the week of Dec. 1 and end the week of Jan. 31. Schedules will be drafted at the next meeting, set for 8 p.m. Monday at Wood's cafe in Jerome.

Members agreed that no league team shall play in any outlaw tournament until the regular league play is completed and the Major league tournament is held.

Tourney Slated

The league's tourney will be held on the first week-end following the completion of regularly scheduled loop competition.

During the meeting Murray O'Rourke, Jerome, was reelected league president and Vosco Parke, Declo, was reelected league vice president. Earl Williams, Eden, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Two Amendments

Amendments to the league's constitution passed by the group included the dropping of the requirement for AAU membership for all players and the lifting of the restriction on the number of players that can be suited down at a league game.

In the past no team was allowed to have more than 10 suited players on the floor. Under the new amendment, teams must have at least five players in uniform before a game starts with no restriction on the number of players carried.

Registration Fee

It was decided to assess every team in the league a $10 fee for registering players. The registration list of eligible players must be in the hands of the league secretary before Dec. 1.

After the opening of play, 50 cents a player will be charged for registering any player not included on the original eligibility list.

Registration money will go into the league's treasury.

Tentative Schedules

Williams was instructed to draw up several tentative schedules for league play, one of which will be adopted next Monday. Location of the league's annual tournament will be fixed at the same meeting.

All teams are asked to send the secretary a list of dates that their home gymnasium will be open so definite scheduling can be completed.

Cooper Slates Heavy Drills For Panthers

SOUTHERN IDAHO COLLEGE OF EDUCATION, Albion, Nov. 17—A full scale scrimmage in preparation for their last grid tilt on the 1948 schedule Saturday was to be held Wednesday afternoon by Coach Gene Cooper's Southern Idaho Panthers.

The team was put through a light practice Tuesday in a drizzling rain on the Albion field. Coach Cooper ran his squad over a series of new plays and addressed pass defense.

Won on Pass

The winning touchdown by ISC over the Panthers last week was made on a pass.

Panther stock rose Tuesday when it was learned Wes Bell, star halfback from Burley, will be ready for action in the contest against the Northern Idaho College of Education at 2 p.m. Saturday in Glenns Ferry.

Bell received a bad head injury in the game with Idaho state.

Regulars Injured

Regulars still on the injured list and who might not see action Saturday are Art Gamblin, end; Deward Bell, quarterback; Bob Switzer, tackle, and Ken Moore, fullback.

Seniors playing their last game for the Panthers will be Gene Bledsoe, Gamblin, Wes Bell, Dean Sisson, Roy Strawser, Chris Cagis and Harold Hustead.

Gil Dodds Takes Coaching Job at Illinois College

WHEATON, Ill., Nov. 17 (AP)—Gil Dodds, one of the greatest distance runners in history, confirmed Tuesday that he has retired from amateur competition to become track coach at Wheaton college without realization of one of his great ambitions, to run on the U. S. Olympic track team.

"I'm coach now," he said, "and I'm out of amateur competition.

"It had to come sometime," he went on, "but the lord has been good to me. I talked the matter of retirement over with my coach and we agreed that it was the right thing to go into the work for which I'm trained."

Dodds holds the indoor world record for the mile run. He set the mark, 4:05.3 in the Chicago relays in the Chicago stadium in March, 1944.

RED ROLFE

. . . newly appointed manager of the Detroit Tigers, who said after his appointment Monday that Detroit will be a hustling ball club. He has announced plans to bring young blood to the Tigers.

Rolfe Slates Changes for Detroit Club

DETROIT, Nov. 17 (AP)—Red Rolfe whipped into his new job of manager of the Detroit Tigers Tuesday as eagerly as if he was going after a hot one at third.

The former New York Yankees third base star, more recently head of the Tiger farm system, quickly set up a policy.

"We're going to have a hustling ball club or know the reason why," he said.

Rolfe, who has never managed a pro ball team, was the surprise choice of the Tiger front office as successor to the dismissed Steve O'Neill.

Owner Walter O. Briggs, sr., together with son Walter O., jr., and General Manager Billy Evans, named Rolfe Monday as the "unanimous choice."

His promotion wasn't more than a few hours old before the lean ex-Yankee was talking plans for the 1949 Tigers.

Rolfe said he was going to "put the accent on youth." The Tigers, he said, have "started to run down."

"But it's not a bad ball club," he said. "If we can strengthen two or three spots, we'll be up there in the pennant fight."

He referred in particular to second base, pitching and catching.

Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—The advance in grain prices moved right along today, despite some heavy selling on the way up. Wheat took over the market's leadership as milling interests bought large quantities of December and May contracts.

Jury Ponders Decision for "Bribe" Trial

difficulties by placing pressure elsewhere.

In rebuttal argument, Sweeley declared the non-existence of the third party mentioned by Reinoehl was the most significant fact in the case. He asserted what Dunn did not say in his arguments was more important than what was said. Sweeley contended it was beyond belief or reason for Rambo to initiate the events.

In his closing words Sweeley said he would like his last words as a prosecutor to a jury believed so the jury would bring in the right verdict. He also emphasized contradictions in Reinoehl's statements as to his intentions regarding the money.

In Tuesday afternoon's sessions the principal defense witnesses were Reinoehl and Police Chief Howard W. Gillette. Also called were City Clerk Constance J. Leiser and three character witnesses, C. D. Hiatt, Bert A. Sweet and E. E. White.

Added to the confusion of when various conversations took place was the contradiction of Rambo's testimony by Gillette and Reinoehl and later contradiction of their testimony by Rambo.

Judge Baker overruled Dunn's requests for dismissal of the suit and for an advisory verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Leiser's testimony was confined to her work with records of city revenue from slot machines. Judge Baker upheld Sweeley's objections to questions on comparative monthly revenue, revenue from other operators, and similar items. She was the only witness not cross-examined.

Gillette's testimony concerned a series of conversations with Rambo after police were stationed to investigate his operation of slot machines. The police chief described Rambo as "burned up" over the investigation but later changed his attitude.

After the city council in a closed session decided to allow Rambo to continue, the police chief testified, Gillette informed him to go ahead provided he would discontinue electrically operated jackpots, have patrons sign their jackpot receipts in ink, discontinue taking signatures on payment of sport jackpots, and follow the laws and ordinances.

Sweeley's questioning called attention to Gillette's interest in the case, his constant court attendance and conferences with Reinoehl and Dunn, lack of public interest by city councilmen, and Gillette having two officers within hearing but out of sight when he informed Rambo of the council's session.

Gillette denied threatening to "get" Rambo personally in a conversation after Reinoehl's arrest. Later, referring to his notes, he testified he made this statement to Rambo in that conversation:

"This is the first time I have seen you since you succeeded in trapping and bribing your friend Orville Reinoehl. You have committed the most cowardly and sneaking crime that I have ever experienced in 16 years of law enforcement.

"I want you to know as sure as the sun came up this morning—and it did come up this morning—you will pay the state of Idaho in full for your crime."

Gillette stated Rambo then declared, "I didn't do nothing, I didn't do nothing." The police chief denied telling Rambo his machines paid too high a percentage to patrons. He testified the investigation cleared up the difficulty which brought it about.

In his opening testimony, Reinoehl listed various jobs offered him by Rambo and turned down. He testified they included $75 a week to work for him, two or three offers last December of $500 per week to be paid by Rambo and an unidentified party if he would get a job as city slot machine collector, several offers of a half interest in a pawnshop, a job in Ketchum where Rambo had a gambling concession in the Thunderbird, and a half interest in a bingo game if Reinoehl could get it licensed by the city council for Rambo.

Describing other conversations with Rambo, Reinoehl testified, "He said, 'This place is getting too hot. I'm going to sell it and we will go into the pawnshop I told you we were talking about.'"

Reinoehl denied threatening Rambo with revocation of his slot machine licenses. He stated neither mentioned what the $1,000 payment was for other than to remove the "heat" from Rambo's business.

In accepting the money, Reinoehl testified, his intention was to turn it over to Gillette with a full statement of what had happened, and then sign a complaint against Rambo.

The mysterious third party who could control the city council was described as non-existent under Sweeley's questioning.

ATTENTION WATER USERS:

Have you Water Stock Certificates for the land you own under the Twin Falls Canal Co. system?

If you have not the company will be glad to cooperate with you in having it transferred to your name.

As the company does not accept less than the full amount of maintenance due on any parcel of land, as designated by a stock certificate, only persons having stock certificates, or their agents, will be billed for maintenances charges as they are levied.

If you have a parcel of land and have not had the Stock Certificate transferred to you, you will receive no notices of assessment dues, but rather the assessment will be levied and notices sent to the owner of the Stock Certificate covering the original parcel or tract of which your land may be a part. These notices will be sent to the last known address of the Stock Certificate owner or to his agent.

These regulations are made, not to confuse but rather to allow the Canal Co. to keep its records clarified.

MAINTENANCE NOTICES are now being sent out for the 1949 levy.

Reds Capture Vast Store of China's Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—Official reports from China revealed today that vast stores of undamaged munitions have fallen into communist hands.

Informed quarters said the arms and ammunition, some of American make, are being used now in the communists' north China offensive.

Officials, there is a "secret" label on the exact amount of material which nationalist forces abandoned intact to the advancing reds in Manchuria. But authoritative quarters said it was tremendous.

Critical Action

These quarters were critical of the apparent failure of government troops to destroy the equipment. It included some aircraft, but the bulk was in small arms, machine guns, howitzers, ammunition of all kinds and tanks and other vehicles.

Loss of this priceless equipment served to deepen official gloom over the military plight of the nationalist government. It strengthened communist striking power at a time when nationalists strength was at a new low.

Used Jap Arms

Heretofore, officials said, the communists had relied primarily on arms taken over from the Japanese armies at the end of the war. They also were believed to have made use of former Japanese arms factories which the Russians moved from Mukden.

Only small amounts of Soviet-labelled arms have been detected in the Chinese civil war, according to Chinese and American officials. But both groups said that the Russians have permitted communists to use the northern factories to make new supplies of Japanese-stamped arms.

American officials still hope that nationalist forces can fight off the major communist attack at Suchow. But they are not optimistic.

Details for the roundup rally to be held Dec. 7 will be discussed and a nominating committee will be appointed.

LETTUCE CROP FORECAST

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—The U. S. department of agriculture has estimated the Idaho fall lettuce crop at 562,000 crates. This is a decline from the October forecast of 675,000 crates. The department said the lowered estimate is due primarily to market conditions.

Illinois Youth Wins Highest Honor of FFA

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17 (AP)—Kenneth Lewayne Cheatham, tall and dark 19-year-old farmer of Greenville, Ill., today is the star farmer of America for 1948.

Cheatham was acclaimed the outstanding youth among the Future Farmers of America in convention here and given the weekly Kansas City Star's award of $1,000.

Young Cheatham's farm program has netted him more than $9,000 since he entered high school in 1943. He completed his high school course in three years and took a year and a half at the university of Illinois. He became a full-fledged farmer last winter.

Degrees Awarded

The American farmer degree was awarded to 214 members in a ceremony in the municipal auditorium.

Those to receive the degree include:

Idaho—Orval Howard Hansen, Idaho Falls, and Daniel H. Michelsen, Grace.

The Future Farmers defeated a motion to take account of inflation by doubling the investment requirement for state, regional and national awards.

Offered by Texas

The constitutional amendment, offered by the Texas FFA delegation, would have hiked the required investments of $25 for chapter farmer degrees, $250 for state farmer and $500 for American farmer, to $50, $500 and $1,000, respectively.

Delegates defeated the proposed amendment by a vote of 52 to 24.

Eugene Hansen, East Garland, Utah, secretary of the FFA, said delegates in discussing the proposal had believed the move would place an undue emphasis on the dollar side of the agricultural program.

Court Awards 2 Divorce Decrees

Two divorces were awarded in Judge Hugh A. Baker's district court Monday on charges of extreme cruelty. Both of the actions were defaulted.

June Haddock was divorced from Robert O. Haddock whom she married June 24, 1947, in Elko, Nev. Her maiden name, June Campbell, was restored by the court. No community property or children were listed.

Noah W. Swearingen received a divorce from Grace Swearingen. Mrs. Swearingen's former name, Grace Porter, was restored. The community property, consisting of real property in Kimberly, was divided between the two parties. They were married Jan. 10, 1944, in Wendell and had no children.

Henry Finds It Easy to "Do" Dances—After Tippling Sake

By HENRY McLEMORE

GIFU, Japan—It is amazing how quickly an American, if he put his mind to it and drinks a sufficient quantity of hot sake wine, can master the dances and musical instruments of the Japanese.

McLemore

In all Japan last night I doubt if there was a more beautiful sight than that of Col. Pat Echols and I stealing a show at a geisha house here in Gifu.

While I brought forth rich, melodious music from the three-stringed samisen, Colonel Echols, in his stockinged feet, executed intricate dances taken, he claimed, from the Kabuki drama.

When he tired of dancing he took over the samisen and accompanied me while I went through some stately dances taken, I claimed, from the Noh plays.

As the geisha girls piled us with more hot sake we joined one another in the Japanese version of the jitterbug, and then did one entire act from "Madame Butterfly." Colonel Echols, 6 feet 2, made a surprisingly dainty Cho-Cho-San, and I made a magnificent Pinkerton, although perhaps a bit more on the detective than on the naval side.

All during our performances the geisha girls were lavish in their applause. They laughed and clapped and urged us on to even greater histrionic heights.

Only two people in the room did not seem to realize how cute we both were. They just sat on the floor, in a corner, and glowered at us. They were—and you get only one guess—our wives. It's surprising how few wives really enjoy watching their husbands make spectacles of themselves.

Of course, it's understandable why Nancy Echols and Jean were annoyed. No one paid them a bit of attention. Geisha girls are trained from childhood to entertain men by singing, dancing, waiting on them, and conversing with them. They just don't know what to do when women come to their geisha houses.

Nancy and Jean, however, did their best to try in a single evening to un-teach the geishas everything they had been taught in a lifetime. They kept telling the girls to serve them first, not Pat and me, and to light their cigarettes before they did ours, and to dance and sing for them.

But they might as well have saved their voices. The geishas just couldn't understand women being treated with more respect than men.

We had a delicious dinner in the geisha house. The main dish was shrimp tempura, considered the finest Japanese seafood dish. We sat on the matted floor in front of a low counter, behind which the cook prepared the shrimp, vegetable shoots, and water chestnuts on charcoal braziers.

Serving us were the geisha girls. Just at the right moment, when the shrimp were golden brown, they would lift them out of the boiling fat and hold them for us to eat. In between shrimp the geishas would serve us more sake out of tiny cups which whistled as you drank from them.

After the shrimp, we moved to a beautifully polished low dining table and were served everything that the Japanese raise, catch, or shoot. And more sake.

After dinner, while we lolled on cushions, the geishas, all of them expert entertainers, started their floor show. They played, sang, and danced and came close to being as good as the colonel and I were earlier in the evening.

Pat and I had a fine evening and we have decided to spare no expense in sending Nancy and Jean to a geisha training school so that they can learn the uncomplaining hand and foot service to which we so readily adapted ourselves in one visit.

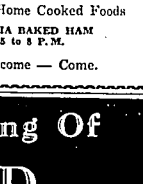

Unidentified Car Blamed for Crash

KIMBERLY, Nov. 17—An unidentified driver caused an automobile to crash into a tree and a truck to spin around twice at 2:20 p. m. Tuesday when he disregarded a stop sign one mile east of here on U. S. highway 30, state police said.

Raymond D. Rhodes, Boise, attempted to stop the machine he was driving when the unidentified auto failed to stop for the sign. His machine skidded on the wet pavement, turned around and traveled across a yard into a tree. Officers said Rhodes was passing the truck at the time.

The truck was driven by Lloyd Hackworth, Twin Falls. According to the state patrolman investigating the accident, the truck turned around twice on the highway but was not damaged.

Snow is not frozen water, but water vapor that crystallizes directly into ice.

Toastmasters' District Head Guest of Club

Merwin E. Helmbolt, Toastmasters' district governor, made his official visit to the Twin Falls chapter at a meeting at 6:15 p. m. Tuesday at the Park hotel.

He explained the district organization and offered suggestions for improvement of the local chapter. He played recordings of the winning speeches of the contest held at the international convention and a record of the evaluation and criticism of the speech.

Helmbolt introduced other district officers. They are Clyde Koontz, district secretary; and Dean Shipley, area governor of district No. 15.

John Peterson was elected to membership and Gordon Atkinson was a guest of Kent Tatlock.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 7. The subject of the next meeting will be the basing of a speech on a recent newspaper article or headline.

Al Nelson will be toastmaster, Max Lloyd will speak 10 minutes; Gordon Scott and Graydon Smith, five minutes, and Merwin Helmbolt, three minutes.

Travis McDonough will be table topic chairman and Walt Slaughter will be chief critic.

Blackfoot Factory Closes for Season

IDAHO FALLS, Nov. 17 (AP) — Closing of the Blackfoot factory of the Utah-Idaho Sugar company because of a harvest slowdown due to inclement weather has been announced here by W. J. O'Bryant, Idaho manager of the company.

O'Bryant said it had been the intention of the company to operate the Lincoln plant at Idaho Falls and the Blackfoot factory until the end of the season run early in December. Freezing weather retarded the harvest so that the beet supply at the Blackfoot factory was nearly exhausted, he explained.

O'Bryant said the Blackfoot factory processed about 51,000 tons before the machinery was killed.

Rockies Area Readying for Winter Sport

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17 (UP)—The powdery snow which is making the intermountain area world famous has started to lay its highly-ski-worthy mantel over winter sports areas of the region.

Some three feet of snow cover Alta's magnificent basins. Sun Valley's wealth of ski runs are rapidly getting "in shape" for the season. No canyon seems to be without the initial coverage for what gives promise of being a great ski year.

"Skeek-Ends" Awaited

Soon junior and his sister will begin their annual chant to join the throngs of youngsters—both old and young—who make "skeek-ends" out of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays until it comes time to shake off spring fever and go fishing.

"Pa" and "pa" may do well to check their bank accounts and the family's accident insurance policy before they give in. With insurance policies in order, they have only to locate a spare $100 per outfit—and if they can stay their anxiety they're ready for the winter sports season.

Provided, of course, they can do without the family vehicle weekends and holidays.

Expenses Listed

Here's a rundown on the initial outlay—taking the moderately priced paraphernalia available in a sports store claiming "moderate prices"—skis, bindings and edges can be had for $28 or thereabouts; ski boots, medium grade, $14; ski sox, two pairs, $2; ski poles, pair, $4; ski carrier (for the auto) $9; ski mittens, $2.50; ski sweater, $9; ski jacket, $12; ski pants, $15; ski cap, $1.50; ski goggles, $3.

The provisions for transportation to and from the ski areas comes extra—as do the lessons!

14 Tax Auditors Enrolled in School

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—Fourteen field auditors of the state income tax division are attending a school this week in Boise, P. J. Neill, director, said yesterday.

He said the school started Tuesday and will continue through Friday.

Neill said the school is intended to give a more comprehensive meaning and interpretation of the state income tax law and to perfect as nearly as possible a uniform method of field procedure.

Those attending are D. A. Banks, Pocatello; R. E. Browne, Twin Falls; Richard Cate and H. G. Rice, Coeur d'Alene; W. J. Fryer, Preston; M. B. Osgood, Idaho Falls; K. C. Parker and Mac Scofield, Lewiston; W. W. Swann, Nampa; Laverne Robinson, Caldwell; Ross Borden, Shoshone, and Eldon Yorgason, L. G. Jensen and Curtis Pate, Boise.

Special Group Seeks Guided Gambling Law

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Franklin Girard, one of the directors of United Liberals, Inc., said the organization will promote legislation this year for supervised gambling and pari-mutuel betting in Idaho.

Girard, former secretary of state, said the proposed legislation will include continued legalization of slot machines.

Legalization of "games of chance will attract tourists and people with money to spend who now go elsewhere," Girard said.

He said the organization would seek from the next legislature a proposed amendment to the constitutional provision forbidding lotteries.

There have been three unsuccessful attempts to legalize pari-mutuel horse and dog race betting in past legislatures. The 1945 legislature passed a pari-mutuel bill but it was vetoed by former Gov. Charles C. Gossett. Slot machines have been legalized since 1945.

Articles of incorporation were filed by United Liberals, Inc., last week with the secretary of state.

The organization listed as its purposes to "sponsor and promote liberal and progressive legislation which will contribute to the growth and development of the state of Idaho and the prosperity of its people."

High peaks of the Andes and in Africa directly on the equator have snow on them all the year.

Farmers' Net Income Dropping in '48

For the first time in ten years, says a bureau of agricultural economics report, America's farmers will have a net income less than the previous year. While the 1948 gross income will stay about the same—$34,500,000,000 this year, compared to $34,700,000,000 in 1947—production expenses, $18,100,000,000, will be about 7 per cent higher this year. Result is that 1948 farm net income is expected to be 8 per cent under last year's figure. The bureau estimates 1948 net income at $16,500,000,000.

Traffic Experts Describe Their Plan For Off-Street Parking in Twin Falls

(Editor's note: Receiving the series of articles about the street traffic plan developed for Twin Falls by the Associated Consultants, Evanston, Ill., were given the off-street parking is described in the article.)

The Associated Consultants explain their explanation of developing an off-street parking plan with the statement an unusual situation exists here. Normally, they point out, an extremely careful study of the community and its needs is required before a sound plan for off-street parking can be developed.

Here, it is known a parking space deficiency exists, the adoption of parallel parking could create a further deficiency of 214 parking spaces for an initial step and as elimination of angle parking continues, a proportionately greater shortage in parking capacity will result.

For those reasons, the traffic experts point out, no lengthy survey was required. Elsewhere, careful study is required not only to determine whether potential parking areas of the type needed can be found where needed by potential users. Here, no such study was needed for even a simple inspection of property development in the central business district discloses that what the engineers term an ideal parking plan may be developed.

The back center portions of the blocks along each side of Main avenue are either now vacant or are occupied by only low cost improvements. The consultants emphasize the interior of these blocks can be developed for off-street parking space, leaving the U-shaped exterior of each block for business development.

The engineers state this is desirable from a viewpoint of city planning as well as street traffic. Customers may walk from parking areas directly into stores and office buildings without crossing a street. Merchants may develop rear entrances to the same extent as their present front entrances, doubling the present window display space and customer accessibility.

Other advantages listed by the traffic experts include diversion of traffic from Main avenue to the Second avenues where customers would drive to reach the parking areas. This would in turn enhance the values of business property and stimulate commercial developments.

Their recommendation is made in these paragraphs of their report:

"Because of the unique situation in Twin Falls, it is practical even in such a limited survey as this to make a positive recommendation that action proceed as rapidly as possible for the acquisitions of the centers of the blocks along Main avenue in an amount sufficient to provide, at this time, 500 to 600 off-street parking spaces.

"Without more detailed research than was possible in this survey, it is not feasible to predict how long this amount of space will meet Twin Falls' needs. It is believed, however, that in the first few years after this space is created, it will continue to a large extent to be occupied by the autos of businessmen and employes of the central business district.

"As greater space is required, the extremely valuable space to the rear of the stores may be so regulated to exclude this type of user, leaving this space available to customers. At that time, it will be desirable to acquire a large area within two or three blocks of the business district where land costs are at a minimum and where parking spaces can be provided for the employes of the business district."

Looking further into the future of Twin Falls and basing their view on the continued growth of this city, the engineers see a third stage in developing additional parking space. That is the erection of multiple-story parking structures on the areas to the rear of the stores.

These are the three points of the consultants' recommendations for off-street parking. They add a note of caution that it is essential to acquire lots of various sizes which may be efficiently divided into parking stalls. So far as is possible, they suggest frontages of either 175 feet or 225 feet since these may be divided into parking spaces requiring the least area per car.

PTA Opposes Objectionable Entertainment

LEWISTON, Nov. 17—A "national housecleaning" is long overdue, according to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which is united in the conviction that objectionable comic books, and undesirable radio and movie programs must go.

It is the objective of the group to improve the reading, looking and listening fare of young Americans. The congress is united in thinking that the time has come to take serious notice of the menace to children from overstimulating motion pictures, hair-raising radio programs, and in particular, corrupting comic books.

Gives Resolution

Mrs. J. C. Jepson, president of the Idaho Congress of Parents and Teachers said the following resolution was adopted at the recent fall meeting of the Idaho board:

1. Recommending each local unit investigate local ordinances, which already exist, to the end of applying such for the control of objectionable entertainment;

2. Recommending that councils and districts cooperate and coordinate such investigations;

3. Recommending the appointment by the state congress president of a committee to aid these local and regional studies and make also a similar study toward the enforcement of existing state statutes."

Interest Friendly

Mrs. Jepson pointed out, "Our interest in this problem of our children's mental and moral environment is a friendly one—friendly first of all to the children and young people, but also to all producers, publishers and radio executives of good will who appeal to a youthful audience. We want to see so many good radio shows crowding the air, so many good pictures in neighborhood theaters, and so many good books that there will be no room left for the cheap and shoddy.

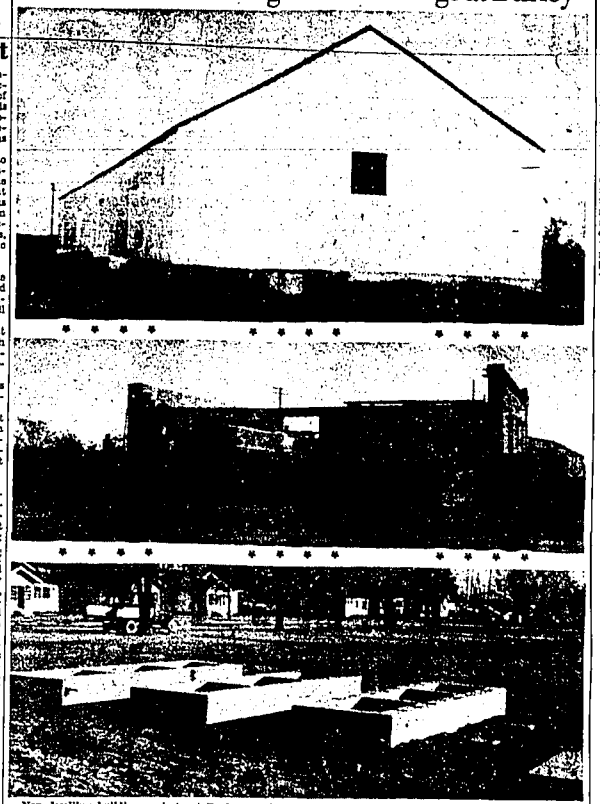

"Responsible leaders in the motion picture and radio industries and, more recently, comic book publishers, are showing increasing apprehension about the practices of some of their irresponsible competitors. They are becoming convinced that they must clean house themselves or the public will do it for them.

Plan Encouragement

"We seek to encourage these responsible leaders and give all-out support to their efforts to bring only worthwhile programs and reading material to our children."

Mrs. Jepson urged PTA councils and/or local units to get behind the national committee and "do a thorough job."

Document on Standing Said Vital for Vets

Lack of proof of dissolution of previous marriages by death, divorce or annulment is a major factor in delaying payment of some death benefits to eligible widows of veterans, according to Don A. Duvall, veterans administration representative here.

Duvall said veterans can prevent delays in settlements to beneficiaries after death if precaution is taken to have official family documents always readily available. He suggested such affidavits or local documents as discharge papers, certified copies of public records of marriage, divorce, birth and others be kept up-to-date in a safe, convenient fireproof location.

Veterans who have claimed benefits from the VA and have been assigned claims numbers may find it advisable to have extra copies of such documents placed in their VA claims folder. If needed in connection with VA benefits, they would be available immediately. Proof of dissolution of previous marriages particularly should be in the VA file, according to Duvall.

Documents submitted to the VA, Duvall said, should be delivered personally to a VA representative or to the service officer of a veterans organization. In event the documents are mailed direct to the VA, full information as to their intended use should be included, with the veteran's claim number written on each separate document. This is to provide ready identification and prevent delay in current claims processing, he said.

Security Agency Avers Non-Farm Jobs Show Gain

BOISE, Nov. 17 (AP)—The employment security agency said today non-agricultural employment in Idaho increased to a total of 126,500 in October.

This was a gain of 1.4 per cent over September and topped the October, 1947, figure by 6.2 per cent, H. F. Garrett, director of the agency said.

Food processing and wholesale trade demands for labor were major factors in the increase.

The seasonal decline in logging and lumbering employment was reflected in the October totals with part of the reduction attributed to a drop in market prices for less select grades of lumber.

Garrett said other industry groups showed only minor changes from September to October.

The retail trade listed the largest employment figures in the state during October with a total of 26,300. Local and state government employes numbered 18,900; service industries employed 14,500; lumber and timber products industries employed 12,500.

A friendly warning on a frosty morning!

When the geese head South, that's the time for you to head for the nearest Conoco station . . . and a change to winter-grade Conoco N*th* Motor Oil.

The pay-off will come on the first frosty morning. A touch of your toe to the starter sends free-flowing N*th* on its way through your engine. That's because lighter, freer-flowing winter-grade N*th* is specially refined to help eliminate balky, grinding starts . . . to save wear on your battery.

*And N*th pays off all winter long. A special added ingredient fastens an extra film of lubricant so closely to your engine's working parts that metal surfaces are actually OIL-PLATED. Berlin Matter Goes Back to Former State

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The east-west conflict over Berlin has reverted to the position of last June when the Russian blockade was first imposed.

As expected, the Russians have been quick to jump on the Lie-Evatt proposals for a conference between President Truman, Joseph Stalin, Clement Attlee and Premier Queuille of France.

Russ Rejoice

"That's just what we have proposed all the time," they reply in effect. And so they have, both through their negotiators and through the cominform, with a big if. If, they say, the allies will include in the agenda not only Berlin, but all of the questions regarding Germany on which the powers have been unable to agree for the past three years.

The allies naturally are extremely anxious to find some means of ending the airlift. The Russians probably would like to end it too. Successful operation of the lift probably rocked them back on their heels more than anything the allies have done.

But they are not yet ready to give up.

Gives Estimate

Since neither side is prepared to go to war over Berlin—democracies don't start war and Russia will not be in a position to do so for some time—here's my estimate of the immediate future:

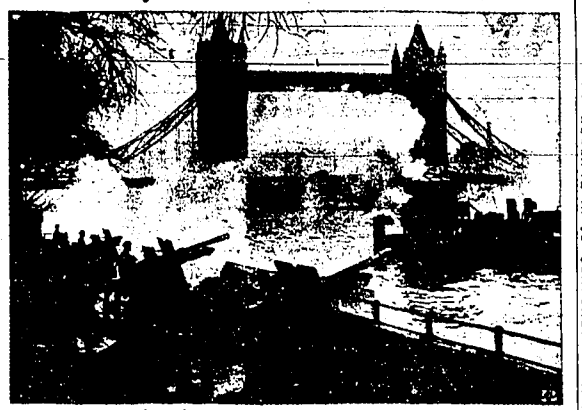

The airlift will continue. Mediation by the small nations will fail but will prevent a war crisis. Russia will threaten to interfere with the lift, but will not carry it to the point where military escort will be necessary for the cargo planes.

Strength Grows

Next summer military supplies will be going from America to Europe and western European union's strength will no longer be a mere piece of paper. If ERP is showing signs of success, Russia will find herself confronted with a growing strength which may warm her to come to the conference table with more sincerity.

The object of ERP, Western union, Atlantic alliance and American rearmament is to present Russia with an unassailable force which will keep peace. But as long as Russia imperialism uses the fanatical communist religion as a weapon the real fight will continue.

Lewis Browne Scheduled for Address Here

Lewis Browne, author of "This Believing World," "See What I Mean," and a dozen other outstanding books, will be guest speaker on the second program of the Town Hall series at 8 p.m. on Nov. 24 in the high school auditorium.

A profound scholar, but with a sense of humor that is even greater than his sense of reverence, Browne combines the ability to write well and think clearly with a capacity of doing an excellent job on the lecture platform.

Refreshing

He gives the impression that he takes neither himself nor his subject too seriously. In this respect he is a refreshing change for many lecturers who feel that their every utterance is a gem to be preserved for posterity. When asked what were his favorite sports, he declared, "In summer, swimming; in winter, lecturing."

During the past 20 years he has lectured throughout the United States and Canada, and also in England, France, Palestine, India, China and Japan.

No Problem

Asked how he found time to prepare his lectures, Browne answered, "That's no problem. I get the facts in the course of the research I do for my books. As for the words, I make them up when I am already on my feet. Most authors take time off to discuss the subjects on which they are writing. That's exactly what I do, but instead of talking in private and endlessly, I talk in public and never for more than an hour."

In his many years on the platform—although he is still far from being an elderly man—Browne has won an outstanding place for himself. He delivers a serious subject in a light manner, though what he has to say can in no way be construed as being irrelevant.

Browne, a Ph.D., has traveled considerably all over the world and in his talk here he will be able, in a forceful, vigorous and intelligent manner, to interpret the things he has seen into sentences which his audiences understand.

2 Herds of Dairy Cattle Inspected

Six cows in the Harold Coddington herd, Rupert, were classified, with one rated "excellent," the highest classification; one term "very good," and a third cow rated "good plus."

Clair I. Miller, Medina, O., was the classifier.
